“Participating in LE’s 2-year program transformed me both personally and professionally. The LE program taught me that in order to positively influence change in the systems of your organization and community, one must take a look at themselves to discover what needs to personally change. This means authentically willing to always check your assumptions, as well as learn and welcome diverse perspectives so that the solution to an adaptive problem results in something richer than anyone ever thought it could be.”

- Renee Zimmerman, Puget Sound Energy (Issaquah resident)
